EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
Augusta, June 6, 1866.

To Municipal Authorities:

A CONSTRUCTION has been placed upon the blank applications for State Pension, to which it is perhaps liable, though by no means intended (as will appear by the instructions accompanying the blanks,) that every party applying shall declare him or herself a pauper. To correct this, in all cases in which persons applying are not receiving aid, either public or private, the third paragraph of the application signed by the proposed beneficiary, which declares the inability in the second line, should be changed by striking out the words "am," "and," and "continue to," so that line will read "obtain a livelihood for myself and those dependent upon me, and shall be compelled to," &c.

The object of this law is to relieve those who may be paupers, and prevent others from becoming so, and will be so administered.

Characteristic Letter of Gov. Brownlow—Great Horse Trot on the Fashion Course—Best Time Ever Made.

NASHVILLE, July 19.

Gov. Brownlow has sent the following despatch to Washington:

NASHVILLE, Tenn., July 19.

To Hon. E. M. Stanton, Secretary of War, Washington—

My compliments to the President. We have carried the Constitutional amendment in the House—vote, 43 to 12—two of the tools refusing to vote.

(Signed) W. G. BROWNLOW, Governor of Tennessee.

Judge Frazier, of the Criminal Court, before whom the case of P. Williams Representatives from Carter county, who had applied for a writ of habeas corpus, was tried to-day, delivered his opinion, sustaining the application. Warrants were issued to-day for the arrest of several members of the House and the parties who arrested Mr. Williams, Messrs. Wyatt and Train.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 19.

The steamer Golden Age sailed to-day for Panama with $1,360,196 in treasure, of which $1,156,000 goes to New York.

The army worm has invaded some portions of the interior of the State. The vanguard of the over land emigration arrived at Carson on Sunday.

NEW YORK July 20.

Dexter won the purse of $8000 yesterday on the Fashion Course, beating Gen. Butler and Toronto Chief. Time, 2:24¼, 2:19, 2:22—the best time on record.

The police made another capture yesterday of a large number of finely executed steel plates, presses, dies, &c., for counterfeiting.

Eleven cases of cholera and six deaths were reported yesterday in this city and four in Brooklyn, three of which were fatal.

NEW YORK, July 20.

Gen. Rousseau in a telegram to the Governor of Kentucky, resigns his seat in Congress.

BOSTON, July 20.

About 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon some bold thief entered Kingley's private office, 11 State street, and stole a box from a desk in the rear of the business office. The box contained certificates of 456 shares of the Adams Express Company's stock, a certificate of one share of the Boston Newport and New York steamboat company's stock, 85 shares of the Aquidneck National Bank, a check on the same bank for nearly one hundred dollars, and about twenty-five hundred dollars in bank notes. The stock certificates cannot be negotiated, and the available funds the thief got will not exceed three thousand dollars.

CHARLESTON, S. C., July 19.

A mutiny occurred last night among a portion of the negro troops on Folly Island, which was suppressed after one of the mutineers was killed and two wounded. The rest of the mutineers were brought to the city under a strong guard.

WASHINGTON, July 20, 1866.

The President this afternoon nominated to the Senate, Henry Stansbury, of Kentucky, for Attorney General in place of Mr. Speed.

WASHINGTON, July 19.

Mr. Reverdy Johnson offered a joint resolution authorizing the President to tender $50,000 to the Government of Maine to be expended for the relief of the sufferers at Portland.

Messrs. Trumbull and Garrett Davis opposed the passage of the resolution, as not warranted by the Constitution, although each of them expressed much individual sympathy for the sufferers.

Mr. Fessenden said that while he should take no direct part in the discussion, he would make a brief statement of the losses at Portland, which he did, giving also the estimated amount of insurance and of the contributions.

General Wilson warmly advocated the immediate passage of the resolution. He felt sure that the nation would not be the poorer for this contributing to the sufferers.

Mr. Henderson advocated the passage of the resolution, as calculated to afford immediate relief to the thousands of homeless and destitute. He was not inclined to search the Constitution for authority to make such an appropriation, if he could find that Congress had in past years donated money for those suffering by visitations of Providence.

Mr. Garrett Davis asked what provision of the Constitution would authorize him to vote for the bill?

Mr. Reverdy Johnson replied briefly to the arguments offered against the resolution, disclaiming any partizan action in offering it, and declaring that no New England member had prompted him. He regarded it as due from this nation to the sufferers. No Senator had asked an appropriation for the aid of those who had suffered at Chambersburg. That was the fortune of fortune of war, and it was the duty of Pennsylvania to have protected her soil. But that has nothing to do with Portland, and he urged the passage of the resolution.

Mr. Garrett Davis rose again and declared that every citizen of the United States should be recompensed for losses during the war before any aid should be given to the citizens of Portland.

The vote was taken, after a discussion of nearly two hours, and the resolution was passed by the following vote:

Yeas—Messrs. Anthony, Chandler, Clark, Edmunds, Foster, Grimes, Guthrie, Henderson, Johnson, Morgan, Morrill, Norton, Nye, Pomeroy, Ramsey, Stewart, Sumner, Van Winkle, Wade, Willey, Wilson and Yates—22.

Nays—Messrs. Brown, Buckalew, Conness, Cresswell, Davis, Doolittle, Harris, Hendricks, Howe, Kirkwood, Nesmith, Poland, Riddle, Saulsbury, Sherman, Sprague, Trumbull and Williams—18.

The House has agreed that when it adjourns on Wednesday next it will adjourn to meet again at the call of the Speaker.—[Sp. to Boston Journal.

Political Consequences of the Battle of Sadowa.

From La France, July 5.

Let us not dissemble the fact—the situation is a serious one for all Europe, and ought even now to awaken all her solicitude. At the outset of the campaign, when inconsiderate partialities hurried certain minds to take part with the Prussians, and some with the Austrians, we resisted the impulse, and attached ourselves strongly to the only interest that ought to direct French policy—that of France. But now, when the fortune of war seems to open Prussia destinies which she herself had not even dared to hope: when all the obstacles that seemed likely to arrest the her ambition are being swept away: when, already established in the Duchies, holding in her hands Saxony, Hesse, Hanover and Bohemia, she may see in perspective through the mirage of victory that dream of German empire which appeared only a chimerical fancy—at present the situation of France is modified and her duty commences.

The Emperor, in a noble burst of patriotism, had declared that he detested the treaties of 1815—all France detests them as much as he does. Well then, the most dangerous thing for us, created by the treaties of 1815, is a powerful Prussia. On the day when that power breaking through its limits, shall extend from the North sea as far as our frontiers, there would be not only a maintenance of those treaties, but even an aggravation of them in what is most menacing to ourselves. Prussia doubtless understands all this, and as fortune has favored the ambitious enterprises she has been meditating so long, the general feeling of Europe would keep her check—Prussia, sovereign in Germany, substituting her supremacy for the Federal compact which kept the German forces in equipoise, would be so great a danger for France that no administration could possibly accept it.

From the London Daily News, July 5.

It is difficult to exaggerate the effect of the Prussian victory, which is, indeed, nothing less than a great overthrow. For many days it must have been apparent to Marshal Benedek, or, at all events, to the officers at Vienna, that the grand struggle would take place in the north-east of Bohemia. Every effort, therefore, must have been made to strengthen the army in these regions by hurrying up whatever troops could be spared from other quarters of the Europe. After the defeat of the Italians at Custozza, every available regiment must have been dispatched, to the North, and for the same reason every regiment that could be spared from the army in Bavaria or on the Main must have been dispatched through Prague to join Benedek. From what quarter, then, can reinforcements be obtained now? It is a tedious journey from Venetia to Vienna, and now that the Prussians are in possession of the line of railroad which connects Pardubitz with Prague and the west, the reinforcements from that quarter must make a detour of many hundred miles through Vienna in order to reach the camp of Benedek. Already the Prussians have succeeded in concentrating eight corps of their army, which they found it necessary to divide in order to enter Bohemia; but the victory which they have just gained will enable them to call in all their scattered corps, especially those in the southeast of Silesia, and to pour down with overwhelming fury on the fragments of what was the great Austrian army of the North. Nor is this all. For the result of their occupation of Pardubitz must be to cut off all communication between the Austrians and the Federal army of the West.

Henceforth, therefore, those opposed to Prussia are divided into two distinct bodies, which must act separately, and cannot come to the aid of each other. The Prussians perceive their vantage ground, nor is it probable that they will relax their grip upon the army of Benedek until it has either crumbled to pieces, or until the Emperor, its master, sues for peace. To those who have watched the progress of the war nothing appears more striking than the extraordinary promptitude of the Prussian movements. From first to last there has been no sort of doubt or hesitation. The plan of operation must have been clearly defined before a single man was moved, or a single shot was fired. The distribution of the troops, the roads which they were to traverse, the length of time which each operation was to occupy, must have been accurately foreseen, and the most admirable arrangements must have been made for procuring and forwarding to the front the necessary supplies. In order to move an army of 200,000 or 300,000 men, it is not enough that ample supply of food, ammunition, and clothing should be provided somewhere.—The necessary amount of such material must be at the particular spot and at the particular at which they may be required. The Prussian army is obviously commanded by brave and intelligent officers in the field; but besides this, it is equally obvious that the chief of staff and the Commissary General must possess the highest capacity for organization and arrangement.

WONDERFUL FREAKS OF LIGHTNING.—During the thunder shower of Sunday, July 8th, the dwelling house of D. G. York of Milton Plantation was struck by lightning. The electric fluid entered the house at the junction of the gable with the ridgepole, where it divided a portion running along the ridge-pole, detaching the boards and shingles and reducing its size nearly one-half by throwing off splinters which were scattered through the chamber. Another portion of the fluid went down the gable and down the main house to the sill, completely demolishing windows, throwing off boards and plastering, breaking timbers and making a complete wreck of the end of the house. After reaching the sill the fluid seemed to sub-divide still farther, portions of it following every available conductor through the entire house. One portion entered the pantry splitting the shelves and making a wreck of the crockery ware; another portion was conducted by the wires through a hoop skirt which hung against the wall, setting the cotton fabric on fire; furnitnre was smashed, the floor torn up, plastering torn off, &c., &c.

A bayonet which hung against the wall in the chamber was melted nearly in two.—Mr. and Mrs. York were in the room where the fluid entered the main house and though the door was completely covered with broken timber and other debris, the floor torn up where Mrs. York was standing and both of them thrown prostrate, neither of them sustained serious injury. On the contrary, seemed to be completely cured of a severe Sciatica with which he was sometimes previously attacked, and Mrs York was cured of deafness of long standing. I have not heard whether or not the above cures are permanent.—Oxford Democrat.

A SICK ELEPHANT. Antony, one of the elephants attached to the menagerie of Geo. F. Bailey & Co., that exhibited in this city on the 11th, has been ailing for some time past. He was unable to keep up with the main body, and came slowly into town on the afternoon of the exhibition. He was too sick to take part in the performances, and the proprietors decided to leave him here. A place was secured on the Elwell farm, in the edge of Northport, whither he was driven on Thursday, and where he remains in charge of his keeper. He has a fine location in a grove of evergreens, close by the millstream, with every facility for the recovery of so distinguished an invalid. His disorder is not certainly known, except that an ulcerated throat is a part of it. He has refused all food for some days, and appears to be fast failing.

He passes the greater part of his time in the stream, throwing up water with his trunk, blowing it into his throat and throwing it out, being evidently a disciple hydropathy. At night he is chained by his foot to a tree, where he remains until his keeper releases him in the morning. He pulled up the first tree to which he was secured, and the chain had to be put around a larger one. Like the human species, sickness makes elephants peevish, and Antony does not obey orders quite so readily as usual. During our visit he made a fractious lunge with his trunk at a spectator, whom he probably considered to be peering too closely down his throat during the gurgling operations. The keeper has no expectation that he will recover, and has already looked out a spot for his grave. His skin will be given to a Natural History Society in Boston, which will send a man here to take care of it.

Antony is seventeen years old, and has been in this country about twelve years.—He has always been a remarkably healthy animal, and until now never missed his ring performances, in which he excelled. In health his weight is 5600 pounds, but his sickness has shrunk him fully a thousand.—The proprietors valued him at $10,000. The present keeper was with him during his voyage to this country, and ever since, except-ing two years. In reply to a question whether Antony knew him on his return, he said, "Yes, well enough to immediately knock me over with his trunk!"—Belfast Journal

The animal has since died.

THE NEEDLE GUN. The unlooked for, and so to speak, brutal energy of the Prussians in the commencement of the campaign, united to their superior fire-arms, have done the work. The Emperor Napoleon is furious with his officers for having refused as useless the breech-loading guns. If it had been France instead of Austria which was in war with Prussia, France like Austria, would have beeen beaten. The very thought makes the hair stand on His Majesty's head, and well it may. The order has already been given to furnish the French army with these guns with the greatest possible rapidity. It may now do be too late, for the French workmen do their work so well, and they carry new ideas into execution so slowly, that the question of the Rhine may yet be decided against France, and all on account of these guns.—[Paris Correspondence of N. Y. Times.

SUFFOCATED IN A KEROSENE OIL STILL. Yesterday morning a young man named William Hurlburt, 19 years of age, employed at Downer's Kerosene Oil Works, on First Street, South Boston, went into a large still for the purpose of cleaning it out. He entered the "man-hole" and a few moments afterwards complained of a peculiar feeling about his legs, but stated that he could finish the job. In about fifteen minutes it was discovered that he had been suffocated. His body was taken from the still and will be sent to Vermont, where his parents reside.—[Traveller.

General Thayer, one of the newly elected Senators of Nebraska, is a Massachusetts man and went to Nebraska at the time of the Kansas-Nebraska troubles, and was prominent as a free State man. He raised a regiment in Nebraska and commencement of the war and fought his way up from Colonel to Major General.

THE SPRINGFIELD RIFLE. The military board appointed for an examination of the various firearms now in use by different nations, have carefully examined sixty-one different rifles and muskets, and have reported that the most effective, safe and substantial arm is the Springfield rifle with the Berdan improvement, which changes it to a breech-loading rifle.

Religious News.

Zion's Advocate, of Portland, appears again this week neatly printed. It will be in a reduced form for some weeks.

—Rev. Nathan Monroe, formerly editor of the Boston Recorder, died at Bradford last Sunday, July 8, aged 62.

—Rev. Dr. McCosh, of Scotland, addressed the Library Societies of Amherst College on Wednesday, and Dr. Storrs gave the oration before the Alumni. At the Alumni meeting it was voted to raise $25,000 to erect a monument to the students and graduates who felt in the war. Nineteen alumni have died during the year.

—Statistics of five hundred Congregational churches at the West show that more than one-quarter of the whole number of male members served in the Union army during the war, including one-hundred and fifty-eight church officers and sixty-one ministers. About one in six of these in the service lost their lives.

—A committee of the Yale Alumni report that it is expedient to build a Memorial Chapel in honor of the sons of Yale, who fell in the war.

—As many as twelve meeting-houses along the shores of the Chesapeake bay have been burnt, because schools for colored people were taught in them.

A BAPTIST QUARTERLY. In accordance with the unanimous vote of the Society, and with the generally expressed desire of pastors and brethren throughout the country, it is proposed to publish a periodical styled The Baptist Quarterly, under the editorial charge of Prof. Lucius B. Smith, of the University at Lewisburg, aided by Professors Alvah Hovey, D. D., of the Newton Theological Institution, Mass., and E. G. Robinson, D. D., of the Rochester Theological Seminary, N. Y., and Rev. G. Anderson of St. Louis, Mo.

What General Chamberlain Says.

All must unite in demanding security for the future. We must have guarantees good and sufficient against any future attempt to destroy this Government whether in the exercise of a pretended right by open war or BY MORE ARTFUL AND INSIDIOUS ASSAULTS against the principles on which this Nation was founded. These are points we cannot yield without danger and dishonor; and WHEN THE SOUTHERN STATES SHALL HAVE COMPLIED WITH THOSE CONDITIONS IN GOOD FAITH, they will be in a condition to ask association and fellowship with the loyal common wealths of the country which they deserted with such violence and scorn. UNTIL THAT TIME, in my judgment, it is wise to hold them in strict probation.

"We cannot go back to gather up the fragments of the Union as it was; we must now recognize the nation as it is, and make the Constitution what it should be."

Correspondence of The Daily Whig.

NEWPORT, R. I., July 14, 1866.

One year ago I spent a few of the hot days of midsummer at the White Mountains, where it was very easy to keep cool, especially on the summit of Mount Washington. On July 12th, of this year, I left Wiscasset to attend the commencement exercises at the Wesleyan University, Middletown, Ct. Of these services more hereafter. The trip by steamer "Star of the East," from Bath to Boston, was delightful. The scene as we passed down the Kennebec was beautiful. The verdant fields and waving groves on the banks of the river, the steamers gliding over the blue waters like things of life, and the beautiful evening sunlight o'er land and water, made it almost enchanting. This was the first time the "Eastern City" came into direct competition with the "Star of the East" on speed. A little attempt at racing afforded a pleasant excitement, as the persons in each boat desired that "our boat" should beat. About a half hour after the arrival of the "Star," the "City" came to her wharf. The morning was uncommonly fine, and while waiting for the cars, enjoyed a very pleasant walk on Boston Common.

NEW BEDFORD, MASS.

Had a very warm reception here, as the mercury stood at 98° in the shade. This city stands on ground that gradually rises from the waters of the Bay. These pleasant waters have the beautiful name of Buzzard's Bay. The city is regularly laid out, and is on the whole a beautiful place. It has about 20,000 inhabitants, four Methodist churches, in all over twenty. At the beginning of the war it had 22,000 people. It has a good share of colored people, and they have four churches.

New Bedford has the honor of having shown sympathy for the poor Africans, and granted them protection, when it was a crime to be an Abolitionist. The place is wealthy, the schools good, and the people intelligent. I saw white and colored children playing in the school yards together, with the utmost freedom and good feeling. It was so oppressively hot that your "own correspondent" did not see so much of this good city as he desired to. Hence descriptive details must be omitted. Saturday left the city of whalemen for the great watering place.

NEWPORT, R. I.

This city has 12,000 inhabitants, and in the summer six or seven thousand as visitors. It is well situated, and is a beautiful city. Of one man I asked, what is the business of this city? "Meat carts," was his answer, "we had seventy here once." Another replied, "Making money out of visitors in the summer." So I am a little in the dark about its business, as persons will differ in opinion. I found a very good home with John Allan, Esq. The weather was more comfortable here.

The pleasure seekers are a world by themselves. Your lady readers will ask, what is the style of bonnets, hats, dresses, shawls, &c., &c.? This is a very difficult question to answer. I sat in front of the Ocean House which stands on the "Avenue" where the fashionables congregate, that is, where they ride from five to six in the afternoon, and where they reside. I saw all sorts of bonnets, hats, dresses, etc. Every one seemed to dress as she pleased, the only sensible way. It would be just as difficult to describe the carriages, horses, drivers, footmen, and other servants. You'll see a span, one white or gray and the other red or black. Then three tandem; now two children riding with a peculiar carriage and a jack; two other little ones drawn by a poney. Delmont, of New York, has a coach and several horses, and always drives himself. Here is a lady holding the ribbons, with a great negro driver by her side surmounted by a tremendous stovepipe hat, with a big weed on it. Now a carriage is passing with a lady and gentleman, whose driver has a bit of a hat. So this moving world goes. The Peruvian Minister, who is worth millions, when he comes, brings twelve horses. Mr. Bancroft, the historian, has a summer residence here.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., July 16.

After attending the morning prayer-meeting, Sunday school, hearing three sermons, and a lecture on China by a returned Episcopal minister, I came by steamer "City of Newport" to this city on Monday morning. The distance is about thirty miles, and the trip, as the young ladies, say, is perfectly splendid. Everything combined to make it so. The morning was one of the most beautiful that ever dawned upon this world. Had to wait here over five hours for the cars to Hartford, Ct. By the way, the Newport Daily News has recently been purchased by Methodist clergymen, Messrs. Talbot & Davis. Mr. Talbot is a son of Micah J. Talbot, of East Machias. The Newport correspondence for several years past, for two Boston papers, has been furnished by Rev. Mr. Davis. Mr. Talbot has a democratic extraction. Judge of my surprise on hearing him preach Sunday evening to "God's images set in ebony." I am indebted to these gentlemen for many kind attentions. The "Press," of this city is also edited by one of our clergymen, Rev. Mr. Deane.

This is a fine city, but it is too warm to examine it. It is a great centre for railroad cars. Whistles and bells are heard constantly. General, now Governor Burnside, resides here. This great State, one-fifth the area of Aroostook County, has two capitals, Providence and Newport. Speaking of Generals reminds me that I ought to decline being a candidate for Governor of Maine, as Messrs. Dillingham, Drew, Thompson and others have done, to avoid a side show. Passing by many important reasons for so doing, I have some fears that I shall not be particularly thought of for the office, and many fears that I shall not have the number of votes necessary to elect. If you will publish this withdrawal you will greatly oblige me. I presume some thought of me because I made the same sacrifices in the late war that Artemus Ward made.

Yours, truly,

E. A. HELMERSHAUSEN.

A motion has been made in Congress that the adjournment be until Saturday, Dec. 1st, unless sooner called together by the presiding officers of the two branches. This provides for any case of emergency in which the President may not see fit to call a special session. The proposition will receive the approval of the people and will no doubt be adopted. No harm can arise from the power being entrusted to the presiding officers, and it may become a matter of vital importance to the country.

The Tennessee Legislature has ratified the Constitutional Amendment, despite the efforts of President Johnson to prevent it—a quorum being secured in the House (which Johnson's friends and the rebels tried to prevent) and the vote of acceptance passed in concurrence with the Senate by 48 yeas to 13 nays. A resolution was at once introduced in Congress to admit the loyal Tennessee members to seats, and thus restore the State to her national relations. This will probably pass, though meeting with some opposition from members who wish to insist on a suffrage amendment, and who think it unsafe to admit any of the once rebel States until the amendment is actually adopted by the ratification of a sufficient number of States. We think there is no danger, however, in admitting such rebel States as do ratify. There will not be enough of them to do much damage, even if the amendment should on the whole fail.

Rebels at Richmond and Louisville have been mean enough to write anonymous letters to the authorities of Portland, rejoicing over the disastrous fire in that city as a judgment of God for Sherman's "burnings" in the South. They have never yet recognized the fact that the calamities of the war were brought upon them, and justly, too, by their own treason and rebellious assault upon the Union.

WHAT SHERIDAN THINKS. A correspondent of the Cincinnati Commercial, after saying that the hero of the Shenandoah and Five Forks proposes to keep entirely out of from politics, gives a summary of his opinions as to the condition and mistakes of the South. It will be seen from the following extract that Sheridan, like our other military chiefs, impliedly favors the principles, if not all the measures, which "My Policy" and the copperheads, and their new allies Cowan, Doolittle & Co., pronounce radical and disorganizing.

He said there was an undoubted change for the worse in the attitude of the South within the last six months, and bad symptoms appeared to be increasing. It now looked as if these infatuated people were about once more to precipitate their own misfortune. Nothing could have been more considerate than the disposition of the nation toward its defeated foes, even in the heat of passion and flush of victory, and had the rebels only manifested a temper correspondingly reasonable, as was naturally to be expected after such chastisement, there could have been no further difficulty. The South evidently had no statesmen, else so plain a problem would not continue to be so bungled. For it should be clear that no class, once set free, can long remain disfranchised, and as they ought to have forestalled their foes in giving freedom to that class in war, so afterward common sense ought to have prompted at least the later prudence of making allies in peace of those with whom they are bound henceforth to live. Instead, however, it appeared certain the rebels had learned nothing from experience, and would, in fact, drive their only chance into unfriendly hands. The safety of the public peace and of the private rights of Union men in the South still required the mediation of a sufficient military force, and if called upon to give his testimony, it should be, that United States troops ought not yet to be removed from the South.

THE POLITICAL SITUATION. The political situation is thus vividly described by a Washington correspondent of the Philadelphia Press:

There is a visible consternation in the Johnson camp. Even Seward begins to see and to tremble at the "handwriting on the wall". The philosopher who constructed Frankenstein out of the horrid remnants of the graveyard and dissecting room, and was ever after followed by the creation of his own impiety, was not more horrified at the hideous spectre he had raised, than is Seward at the corpse of treason galvanized into life by his own incantations. He sees, while the traitors are ready, that the Republicans will neither be bought nor bullied into the new treason. Governor Denison's resignation takes him by surprise. It was to oblige S. that D. visited New York last February, and made a speech in favor of "My policy", reluctantly, it is true, but pretty flat-footed.

This was the result of Denison's personal loyalty to Johnson, and hence, when he drops out, Seward sees that there is surely danger. But Raymond's quaking is more than Denison's graceful farewell. He was supposed to be firm because Weed was at his back, and yet even Weed is frightened at the exultations of the copperheads and rebels. The New York Times backs, fills and deploys, like a leaky ship in a storm. But Seward's tribulations don't end here. His bitter foe, Montgomery Blair, who has been to Johnson what Mephistopheles was to Dr. Faustus, is the Mordecai at the king's gate, and rules and ruins with a grim and ghastly exultation. Blair is in command of the newly-married Johnson clubs up this city, and is the undoubted power behind the throne of the Post Office Department.

Hostetter's Stomach Bitters.

Read the following letter from E. Bourne, a well known citizen of Pittsburgh, Pa.

PITTSBURGH, May 10, 1866.

Messrs. Hostetter & Smith: Gentlemen—During a visit in the West last fall, I contracted chills and fever, which brought me to my bed, and finally terminated in typhoid fever, during which time I was physically so prostrated that I almost despaired of ever recovering my health; having entirely lost my appetite for days, not being able to eat a morsel, added to which I was much distressed with a rending sensation in my head, and passed many sleepless nights—all from debility caused by my prostrate condition, brought about by the fever. At this stage of my condition a friend recommended me to use your celebrated Stomach Bitters, but being morally opposed to the use of stimulants in any form, I at first declined, but afterwards yielded to my prejudices, and after taking the medicine for several weeks, as directed, my appetite returned, and with it I am rapidly regaining my former vigor and strength. My sleep (from the loss of which I had suffered much,) has never been better than it is now, and the reeling sensation (before alluded to,) has entirely left me. My bowels, which were much constipated and irregular, are now quite natural, and in fact I am glad to say that I feel myself a new man, and render you this testimonial as my appreciation of your valuable preparation in order that others suffering as I have may avail themselves of its virtues, which prejudice prevented me from enjoying for so long a period. I may also add that my physician, after seeing the beneficial effect your Bitters had on me, recommended that I use them regularly. Yours, very respectfully,

An Invaluable Spring Medicine.

DR. J. W. POLAND'S

HUMOR DOCTOR.

This excellent medicinal remedy was first prepared by Dr. P. in 1847, and was then employed with great success in expelling humors from the blood; but in 1848, a medical friend, who was quite celebrated as a physician, especially in the treatment of humors, suggested some important improvements, which were adopted, and which have made it (so the people say,) the very best remedy for all kinds of humors known to "the faculty." This preparation is composed wholly of vegetables, among which are Sarsaparilla, Yellow Dock, Burdock, Nobla Pine, Mandrake, Senna and Bloodroot. Suffice it to say, the "Doctor" is used in hundreds of families as a general medicine. Unlike many other popular remedies, it is very grateful to the taste.

UNITED STATES Internal Revenue!

COLLECTOR'S OFFICE,

FOURTH DISTRICT OF MAINE,

BANGOR, July 3, 1866.

In pursuance of Section 9 of the Act of Congress, entitled "An Act to provide Internal Revenue to support the Government, to pay interest on the public debt, and for other purposes," approved June 30, 1864, as amended by the Act of March 3, amending sections relating to the collection of internal revenue from tobacco:

I hereby give notice that I have received from GEORGE P. SEWALL, Esq., Assessor for the Fourth Collection District of the State of Maine, the annual list of Duties and Taxes assessed by him in the month of May, 1866.

The said Taxes and Duties have become due and payable, and that I will attend at my office, Exchange Block, in the City of Bangor, to receive the same, for the First Division of said District, from the tenth to the thirtieth days of July instant, inclusive.

That for the Second Division of said District, ALBION K. P. GRAY, Esq., Deputy Collector in said Division, will attend at Dover on the 15th and each succeeding day of the month of July instant, to receive the Taxes and Duties assessed within said Division.

That for the Third Division of said District, FREDERICK E. NUTE, Esq., Deputy Collector for said Division, will attend at his Office at Lincoln, on the 25th day of July instant, and each succeeding day to the 31st of July instant, inclusive, to receive the Taxes and Duties assessed within said Division.

That for the Fourth Division, JOHN H. SHANFORD, Esq., Deputy Collector therein, will attend in the County of Aroostook, at Houlton on the 30th and each succeeding day of July instant, to receive the Taxes and Duties assessed within the County of Aroostook.

And I further give notice that "all persons who shall neglect to pay the Duties and Taxes so as aforesaid assessed upon them to the Collector or his Deputies within the time specified, shall be liable to pay ten per centum additional upon the amount thereof;" and that the penalties when incurred will invariably be enforced against the provisions of the Act aforesaid and the special instruction of the Commissioner of Internal Revenue.

☞ No further notice of the Annual List is required by Law than the foregoing; and all persons assessed are respectfully requested to govern themselves accordingly.

An Effectual Worm Medicine.

BROWN'S VERMIFUGE COMFITS,

OR WORM LOZENGES. Much sickness, and painful, with children and adults, attributed to other causes, is occasioned by worms. The "VERMIFUGE COMFITS," although effectual in destroying worms, can do no possible injury to the most delicate child. This valuable combination has been successfully used by physicians, and found to be safe and sure in eradicating worms, so hurtful to children.

CHILDREN HAVING WORMS require immediate attention, as neglect of the trouble often causes prolonged sickness.

SYMPTOMS OF WORMS IN CHILDREN are often overlooked. Worms in the stomach and bowels cause irritation, which can be removed only by the use of a sure remedy. The combination of ingredients used in making Brown's "Vermifuge Comfits" is such as to give the best possible effect with safety.

FIRST SESSION.

WASHINGTON, July 20.

SENATE.

The committee of conference on the bill to protect the lives of passengers on steam vessels made a report. The House agrees to all important amendments of the Senate, and the bill is substantially as it passed the Senate. The report was agreed to.

Mr Fessenden, from the finance committee, reported the tariff bill passed by the House Wednesday, with two amendments, which he said were important.

Mr Edwards introduced a bill to prevent courts from being used as a means for prosecution of loyal citizens. Referred to the judiciary committee.

The following are amendments to the tariff bill in Senate finance committee—

Add to ninth section the following proviso:—That nothing herein contained shall apply to long combing or carpet wool, costing 12c or less per pound.

A new section was added, authorizing the Sec'y of the Treasury in certain cases to suspend direct tax until Jan. 1st, 1868.

The House bill to protect the revenue was reported from the finance committee, with amendments.

The conference committee on consular appropriation bill made a report, which was agreed to.

A long debate and explanation ensued on the fact that the appropriation for mission to Portugal was expunged.

Remarks were made condemnatory of Minister Harvey's course in writing a partizan letter, and as an offset the despatch of Governor Brownlow to the Clerk of the Senate yesterday, in which Brownlow says, "Give my respects to Dead Dog of White House" was read as being parallel to the remarks in Mr Harvey's letter about the action of Congress.

The civil appropriation bill was taken up.

An amendment was adopted that the property taken from the pirate Florida be sold, and the proceeds divided among the captors.

An amendment was offered, appropriating five millions of dollars to compensate loyal owners of slaves mustered into the army.

A substitute for this amendment was offered that to much money of the commutation fund as is now in the Treasury, be appropriated for this object, on satisfactory proof of continuous loyalty.

Pending the consideration of the amendment, the Senate went into executive session and then took a recess till 7 o'clock.

EVENING SESSION.

Several bills from the committee on the District of Columbia were passed.

Among which were the bills incorporating the Soldiers' and Sailors' Home, and the National Soldiers' and Sailors' Orphan Home, and one appropriating $200,000 to to build a jail.

A bill passed amending the charter of the Washington & Alexandria R. R. by prohibiting extension of track over Pennsylvania Avenue, and requiring the company to expend $100,000 within one year, in the construction of a tunnel east of the Capitol to connect with Baltimore & Ohio R. R.

Adjourned at 10,15.

HOUSE.

Mr Deming from the military committee, reported the bill to establish and protect national cemeteries. Recommitted and ordered to be printed.

The House considered the joint resolution for the admission of Tennessee.

Mr Bingham withdrew the demand for the previous question.

Mr Bingham slightly modified his resolution and renewed his demand for the previous question.

Messrs Boutwell and Ward each desired to offer an amendment, the former providing for equal and just suffrage.

Mr Bingham declined to let the amendment be offered. The previous question was seconded and the resolution ordered to be engrossed and read a third time.

The preamble was then ordered to be read a third time.

The House then got into a confusion about the preamble, which finally resolved itself into a motion to reconsider the vote ordering the preamble engrossed, which was tabled—yeas 105; nays 29.

Mr Le Blond addressed the Speaker as if on the question of order, to the effect that a portion of the members on his side desired to vote for the resolution, but could not vote for the preamble.

He was called to order.

The previous question was seconded on the passage of the joint resolution.

Mr Bingham rose to close the debate, but yielded half an hour to Mr Boutwell, who spoke against the resolution.

Mr Boutwell opposed the admission of Tennessee without enfranchising freedmen, and said that by so doing the House was surrendering up four millions of people, surrendering the cause of justice, degrading itself and the great party which had controlled the country in most trying time in history of the world.

Mr Hubbel said he would vote against it because the constitution of Tennessee conferred suffrage on whites and also because she would be admitted with the same number of representatives she had before the war, whereas she was entitled to under constitutional amendment.

Mr Bingham closed the debate urging the adoption of the resolution, and replying to Mr Boutwell. He claimed that Tennessee was as much entitled to representation today as any State in the Union.

The vote was taken, resulting as follows: yeas 125, nays 12.

There was considerable laughter on both sides when Mr. Stevens of Pennsylvania voted aye.

The result was greeted with great applause on the floor and in the galleries.

Mr. Stevens reported a bill to provide for restoring the States to their full political rights.

Several amendments were proposed, and finally the amendments were laid on the table.

Mr Stevens offered a joint resolution that when Congress adjourns it adjourn to meet again on Saturday the 1st day of December next, unless sooner convened by the President or by the joint call of the presiding officers of both Houses, who are hereby authorized to exercise this power in case of emergency.

The Speaker submitted the question to the House whether the above should be entertained as a privileged question.

Several members debated it.

Mr Stevens said his object was to fix it so that by adjourning Congress could control the action of the President.

By a vote of 62 to 51 the House decided to entertain the resolution, refused to table it, and finally rejected it—38 to 75

Adjourned.

LOCAL AND STATE ITEMS.

ANNIVERSARY WEEK. The anniversary of the Theological Seminary in this city comes in course next week. The examination will commence in the Chapel, on Sunday forenoon and close Wednesday noon. The anniversary of the Rhetorical Society will be on Tuesday evening, in the Central Church. Speaking to commence at 7½ o'clock. The Sermon before the Alumni, by Prof. Egbert C. Smyth of the Andover Seminary, will be delivered in the Hammond Street Church on Wednesday afternoon.—The Exercises of the Anniversary proper, by the graduating class, will be in the Central Church on Thursday forenoon. The Addresses before the Societies will be by Rev Dr. McCook of Belfast, Ireland, and Rev. John Pike of Roxbury, Mass., in the Hammond Street Church, on Wednesday evening and Thursday afternoon. On Thursday evening there will be an ordination of Home Missionaries in the Hammond St Church.

—We have a copy of a neatly printed pamphlet from the office of Mr. S. S. Smith containing a "Report of the Proceedings at the First Anniversary of the Brewer Monumental Association, held in Brewer April 27th, 1866." It includes the able and patriotic oration delivered on that occasion by Rev. Dr. Tuft.

FOUND DEAD. A correspondent at Springfield, Me., informs us that on Friday of last week, a man was found dead in an old camp on a road leading from Prentiss to Danforth Plantation. He must have been dead about three months, as he was recognized as a man (name not remembered) who was hired last spring in Danforth Plantation to cook on the drive for Mr. Charles Hathorn of Veazie. He started for Mr. His camp, and was not heard from afterwards.

—The workmen are busy removing one of the old wooden buildings on Harlow Street, facing Central Park, preparatory to the erection of a steam fire engine house.

—A little son of O. H. McIntyre of Bradford, fell from a cart loaded with stones while the same was in motion, and the wheels passed over his chest, killing him instantly

—The Gardiner Journal says that peddlers and hawkers are as thick in the streets of that town as a Minnesota forest is of mosquitoes—a result of the repeal of the hawker and pedler law.

—The Maine Farmer says a State show of horses is to take place upon the State Trotting Park at Augusta, the present autumn, for which arrangements will be made the present week, and the time immediately announced, at which Gen. Knox, Draco, Gen. McClellan and other celebrated horses are expected to be present.

—The Gardiner Journal says Geo. Winks, Esq., the whole-souled dry goods merchant of Montreal—a temperance man—the man who generously entertained the National Division at his princely residence, has sent $300 in aid of the Portland sufferers.

—Talking about heat, everybody supposes Constantinople to be a moderately hot place at midsummer, compared with any part of New England—and yet the thermometer puts us ahead. The Gardiner Journal has a copy of the "Levant Herald," which gives the following record of Constantinople temperature last summer:

July 31, 86; Aug. 1, 86; Aug. 2, 87; Aug. 3, 88; Aug. 4, 89; Aug. 5, 86; Aug. 6, 84. This is the highest point reached, with the thermometer exposed.

—The citizens of St. John, N. B., have contributed $6,700 for the Portland sufferers and those of St. Stephens $2000.

—The Kennebec Journal speaks of a "friend" who has a single vine of black raspberry, two years old, which has upon it over fifteen hundred berries. He has also a Concord grape vine, two years old, which has forty clusters of grapes upon it.

—We learn from the Lewiston Journal that the residence of Ebenezer Jordan, Esq., of Danville, was entered by some robber or robbers, between sunrise and sunset on Monday, and a trunk stolen therefrom containing two $500 7-30 bonds, and a large number of notes and other valuable papers. Mr. Jordan offers $200 reward for the recovery of the stolen bonds and papers and the apprehension of the villain or villains.

—We are afraid, if all the stories we hear are true, of the knavery and extortion practiced by some parties in Portland, that the sympathy that has been shown for that city will receive a check. We are told that parties are charged $2,50 per night for lodging, and a few days since a gentleman who visited the city, wishing to ride for an hour, went to a stable and engaged a horse for that length of time. He was about to take him without inquiring the price, but the hostler told him he would take $15 before he started. The gentleman replied, "I didn't wish to buy your horse, I only wanted to hire him." "Well," says the other, "that's our price." "I don't think you are burnt enough yet," said the gentleman, and left him.

The Portland papers say that parties in good circumstances, who were not damaged by the fire, have been regularly drawing rations.—[Gardiner Journal.

—The Farmington Chronicle says that a young man, son of James Allen, near the falls on the west side of the river, was severely injured by the premature discharge of a gun, badly shattering one of his arms.

—The publication of the Belfast Journal has been recommenced. Its politics have gained nothing by its hybernation.

—It is stated that out of thirty-five safes which were subjected to the fire in Portland which were opened by one man, only five preserved their contents. We can hardly think this is a fair statement of the average. If so, the safes were not so good as those in use in Augusta at the time of the great fire in that city.

—Will our friend of the Bath Times please credit our items to the Bangor "Whig," not "Courier." The latter is our weekly paper.

—The watering places and country resorts are not so well filled as it was expected they would be this summer. One reason is that the cholera has not yet appeared as an epidemic, and another, the exorbitant charges which are made in many places near the large cities. Three dollars a day by the week is rather stiff, even for these times. City people will stand the heat before they will that.

DROWNED. Mr Alexis Trewergy of Ellsworth was drowned in Long Pond, Tremont, on Friday last. He launched a boat from the shore and it partly filled, and while bailing it out, he fell overboard and sunk immediately.

—The Belfast Journal says that Mr. Lancaster, landlord of the American House for thirty years, has retired, and is succeeded by Edwin B. Ellis, whose qualifications for the business are well known. He is assisted by Mr. Billings, late of the Bangor House, an intelligent and courteous gentleman, with the quickness and affability so highly appreciated by the travelling public.

—Mr. Lewis, landlord of the American House, that was, has taken the Sailor's Home building, corner Middle and India streets, for a hotel. It is well located and well suited to the purpose.—[Argus.

The Oxford Democrat learns that a severe hurricane with a thunder shower and hail storm prevailed at North Fayette on Tuesday afternoon last. Two barns was blown down, a stable and house partly unroofed, chimneys demolished, a large number of fruit and shade trees were torn up by the roots or twisted off. In Mt. Vernon, a barn containing several tons of hay was struck by lightning and consumed.

—Counterfeit fives on the Rollstone Bank of Fitchburg, Mass., are being scattered about here. Vignette, female reclining, globe, quadrant, etc. On left, female and sheaf of wheat, in a large V.—[Waterville Mail.

—The Press says the Tilton & McFarland affair came out of the fire with their contents in admirable condition.

ALMOST A FREE. On Monday a large pile of chips and shavings in the engine room, at White & McGilvery's ship yard, took fire from the furnace, and came near destroying their buildings. Fortunately the carpenters had just returned from dinner, and were right at hand, else with the high wind blowing, it might have been a serious affair!—[Belfast Journal.

—The Portland Press has an article in favor of an extra session of the Legislature—not only to ratify the constitutional amendment, but to remit or postpone the payment of the State tax of Portland for the present year. This proposition was made by a citizens meeting at Augusta, we believe, and we think the people of the State would be willing to have this leniency shown to our chief city whose taxable property has been so largely reduced and whose business has been for the time being so severely crippled.

DYSPEPSIA DESTROYS THE TEETH. Unless its effects are counteracted by that pure vegetable tonic and antiseptic, Sozodent,—No bodily disease can impair them if this antidote to all corrosive elements that act upon the enamel is regularly applied.

GENERAL ITEMS.

—It is proposed that A. H. Stephens, H. V. Johnson and B. H. Hill, the two latter Senators in the Rebel Congress, shall represent Georgia in the Philadelphia Convention.

—At an immense temperance gathering in London, it was stated that the consumption of intoxicating liquors in England costs $400,000,000 yearly, of which some two-thirds is spent by the working classes alone; and that nine-tenths of the crimes committed are traceable to strong drink.

—A small vial, containing about an ounce of grayish powder, has been given to every out-door custom house officer, by order of the Board of Customs at Leith, Scotland, with instructions to give a quantity of the powder to any person who may be seized with diarrhœa. The vial bears a label with instructions for using the powder.

—Agents from some of the large manufacturers in England have made their appearance in New Orleans and in other parts of the South, for the purpose of looking into the prospects for the next crop of cotton, what dependence can be placed upon the freedmen as laborers, the position of the planters, &c. The inquiries are made with a view to the government of manufacturers and spinners in their future operations.

—A Mr. Wardwell, an ice dealer of Richmond, recently made a speech to the negroes there, in which he said; "Proud have I been when I have seen American traitors put to flight and death by loyal American black men," whereat the press of that city cried out against him and denounce all who patronize his business.

—A silver mine has been discovered on the farm of Mr. Asa Brown of Raymond, N. H. The farm has not been valued at more than a thousand dollars, but prominent men in the State have agreed to pay him $25,000 for it at the end of sixty days, if they shall then be disposed to take it.

—Hon. Charles H. Bell, who recently made a journey to Georgia in the matter of the bequest of Mr. Robinson, states that the town of Exeter, N. H., will obtain $200,000 under the will. The gift is to found an establishment in Exeter for the education of young ladies.

—A colored girl in Georgia has brought a suit for breach of promise of marriage against a negro man. It is the first case of the kind known in Georgai.

—A renowned clergyman once preached a long sermon from the text: "Thou art weighed in the balance and found wanting." After the congregation had listened about an hour, some of them got weary and went out, greatly to the annoyance of the preacher, whereupon he said—"That's right, as fast as you are weighed pass out."

—European "sports" have invented a new game of betting on cabs—by sitting in the window and betting on the odd or even number of those vehicles that may pass. A young duke recently lost $100,000 in this way by unfortunately betting on even numbers at Paris. A fool and his money were soon parted.

—A soldier on trial for habitual drunkenness was addressed by the magistrate:

"Prisoner, you have heard the charge of habitual drunkenness; what have you to say in defense?"

"Nothing, please your honor, but habitual thirst."

—The first victim of trichina was Herod. "He was eaten of worms and gave up the ghost."

—A man got tipsy, and indulged in a night's sleep in a country grave-yard. On opening his eyes in the morning he noticed the motto on a gravestone—"He is not dead but sleepeth." "When I am dead," he remarked with great deliberation, "I'll own up, and have no such statement as that above my carcass."

—A heart-rending affair happened at East Haddam, Ct., last Saturday. Four children went into the Connecticut river to bathe, while the mother of one of them, Mrs. Marston, sat upon the bank. They got beyond their depth, and the mother plunged in to rescue them and was drowned with the children.

THE JOHNSON HABIT. The Providence Journal says:

If the President, the new Postmaster General, Ex-Postmaster General Blair, and the other gentlemen who are in favor of the Philadelphia Convention, really intend to try to build up a party opposed to the adoption of the constitutional amendment and sworn to stand by the action of the Convention, they may be sure that the new party will comprise but a very small portion of the old Republican or Union party. The members of this party in every State have expressed their views of the amendment in terms not to be misunderstood. They go for it earnestly. Nothing will induce them to turn their backs upon it. Their opposition to the Convention will be nearly unanimous by the time that body assembles. Even those, who were at first inclined to look upon it with a degree of favor, are now turning away from it in disgust, since it has become apparent that it is to be a Democratic Convention.

What follows as the consequence? Why, it follows, of course, that the new party must be composed of Democrats and Southerners. But here let it be noted, that a portion of the Southerners wish to have nothing to do with the new party. They are the men who have been loyal through the war. They have helped fight our battles. They have been driven from their homes by rebels, or persecuted while at home. They are the true and faithful men, who have called a Convention by themselves. They are in favor of the Constitutional amendment, and against the Philadelphia Convention. So then the new party cannot contain either the Republicans of the North, or the Southerners who have been loyal during the war. But furthermore, some of the Northern Democrats are still unfriendly to the Convention. The Leader, which is the organ of the New York Tammany Democracy, is bitterly opposed to it, and deems it the height of folly in the Democracy to put themselves in the hands of Johnson and Seward, who, it says, are coming to their camp because defeated in the house of their friends. It compares the project to that of a General who should surrender to the enemy, in order to rise and capture the captors afterwards. So then the new party is to be made up of a portion of the Northern Democrats, and of Southerners who were rebels while they could be. That will be an interesting party.

A copperhead in Portland told a Boston merchant a day or two since that the fire in Portland was good enough for them; and that all New England ought to be served in the same way for their treatment of the South.

The Washington correspondent of the Baltimore Sun writes:

The war between Congress and the President waxes warm. The radicals claim now to be stronger than ever. They show signs of it. They can pass anything over the President's head.

Forest City Ruins by Moonlight

BY ROSIE LEE.

Is it an army tented here,
All down the slope of Munjoy Hill,
That makes the ground appear so white
Now in the moonlight calm and still?

Who are those sentinels on guard,
Those giants tall, and grim, and grey,
Who seem to stand 'gainst the sky,
To wage a war with coming day?

And what is that in heaps around,
O'er which a double watch they keep?
Who are the foes they fear would come
To take their goods if they should sleep?

And who hath hewn the trees away,
That used to stand so fresh and green:
And where are all the glittering spires,
That far above the trees were seen?

Within those tents the homeless sleep
The little child of tender years
There nestled in its mother's arms,
Forgets it's little griefs and fears.

The grey-haired father there at rest,
Saw all he called his own consigned
To flames and smoke, in one hour
"God wills" he said, 'and I'm resigned."

These giants tall are chimneys left
Alone to mark a dwelling place,
Where once the merry laugh rang out,
And joy beamed brightly on each face.

Those guarded goods are brick and stone,
A ruined heap of fallen walls:
And laborers are the foes who come
When morn to work and duty calls.

Those trees have fallen, too, by fire—
No army swept in fierce array
Through all those pleasant streets to take
Their glory and their pride away.

For those who suffer ask we aid,
And crave a blessing from on high!
Weask those who from flames were spared
To pass no needy brother by.

Mt. Vernon, Me., July 7th.

USEFUL KNOWLEDGE.

Punch remarks:

Everybody ought to have a partial, if unable to obtain a thorough, knowledge of the manufacture of the ordinary articles of nourishment in daily use among us. For instance, a young lady should be ready, at a pinch, to make a tart, a pie, bread, butter and other luxuries. A bachelor should be handy with his needle and thread, and a married man should be able to a carpenter's work, dexterously.

In order to excite generous emulation among all classes of our readers, we will now proceed to show the result of a few examinations instituted extemporaneously during meal times. Pater-familias, if he is well posted up in these matters himself—and he can 'cram' while shaving—will find these instructive breakfasts, luncheons and dinners the nearest things to the classic symposia, or the school of the ancient philosophers. The attempt to introduce a dish of instruction, under a cover of any sort, at breakfast, is not entirely free from some domestic difficulties, as will be seen in our first breakfast lecture on butter.

No. 1.

Paterfamilias—Mary, dear, give me some butter.

(While his daughter is engaged with the butter knife, paterfamilias commences.)

Paterfamilias—you know how butter is made?

Mary (readily, not wishing to be bothered)—Oh yes, pa.

Brother Tom (from school)—I'll bet she don't.

Paterfamilias (reprovingly)—Tom! You will not say 'bet,' and you will say 'does not' instead of 'don't.'

Brother (unabashed)—Well, she doesn't though.

Paterfamilias (to Tom)—Then how is butter made?

Tom (triumphantly)—Why from the cow, of course.

Mary (depreciating her brother)—That's very clever.

Paterfamilias (running into rhyme, unconsciously)—Made from the cow: yes. But how?

Tom (making a desperate shot)—Well, the milkman goes and stirs it up in a bowl. (Sees Mary laughing. To her)—Yes, it is. (Contemptuously)—Well you don't know.

Paterfamilias (reprovingly to Tom)—Don't again."

[It suddenly occurs to him that he has made a grammatical error this time himself.]

Tom (correcting himself)—Well, 'doesn't' (To his sister)—You doesn't know.

Paterfamilias (mildly, feeling he has been wrong)—When I said you mustn't use 'don't,' I meant in certain instances as for inst—(corrects tautology and substitutes example,—as for example, you should say 'you do not,' not 'you don't;' and he 'does not,' not he doesn't.' Is satisfied with his own explanation, especially as he sees Mrs. Materfamilias drinking in the words of wisdom silently.) Now, how is butter made, Mary?

Mary (pettishly)—Oh, from the cow, and churned.

Paterfamilias (to Ellen, aged sixteen, nearly two years older than Mary)—What do you say, Helen?

Helen—Oh, papa, I don't know. (Laughs pleasantly.)—I recollect learning something about it once. Let me see, it's churned and skimmed, and put in a dairy—

Tom (coming in with a new idea)—And baked.

Mary (suddenly thinking she has recollected all about it)—And you let it stand till it's cold.

[All these are perfectly satisfied, and resume their breakfast.]

Paterfamilias (begining to feel a little uncertain as to his own facts)—Upon my word Margaret (to his wife) they ought to know these things.

Materfamilias (in self-defence)—Then my dear, why don't you tell them?

Tom (sharply)—I say, papa, ma said 'don't.'

Paterfamilias (remonstrating with touching dignity)—There my dear, you really should be more careful. You heard me just now telling.

Materfamilias (petulantly)—Oh, I can't be bothered with such trash.

Paterfamilias (perceiving that the value of his authoritative instruction will be seriously injured)—Trash! My dear Margaret, it is necessary that my children should talk good grammar, and if they hear as Tom did——

Materfamilias (angrily)—If Master Tom speaks to his mamma in that way again, he shall be packed off to school before the holidays are over. [At this cheerful prospect Master Tom becomes suddenly depressed.]

Paterfamilias (letting up his feelings and proceeds with the subject)—Butter, Mary—(Mary hands him the butter)—no, my dear, I was going to say, butter is made in the following manner. Of course, as you know, you first obtain the milk from the cow——

Materfamilias, (who has been looking out of the window)—While your papa's lecturing we're losing all the fine weather. (The girls rise from table.)

Helen—Yes, mamma, and you said we were to go to Mrs. Skewdt's, and Chignon's this morning.

Materfamilias (apparently ignorant of her husband's existence)—Yes, you'd better get your things on while it's fine. (Exeunt girls, they are heard giggling as they run up stairs, and fire words 'papa' and 'butter' are more or less distinct.)

Paterfamilias (severely to his wife) My dear, it is impossible to attempt any instruction with the children on these useful points of everyday life, if you—

Materfamilias (quickly)—Then you should not correct me in their presence.

Paterfamilias (feeling that a complete answer to this is not to be made in a second, goes back to butter)—But if you only gave them an hour a day on such subjects as butter, tea, sugar, &c., it would be very useful.

Materfamilias (determined not to give in)—Ah, well, they've quite enough to do. I hate cramming children, they're only idiots when they grow up.

Paterfamilias (has something sharp to say about idiots, but thinks of the value of peace and quiet, and bottles himself for the second time. He then says with dangerous playfulness)—Now, I dare say you don't know how butter is——

Materfamilias—Oh, rubbish! [Exit suddenly.]

Paterfamilias (growls to himself)—Upon my word! Just like women. Really there is no getting them to—(Growls and tries to read the paper, but finds himself in the middle of last night's debate upside down.) I wish to goodness—(unfolds the paper, rises) I should have liked half a cup more tea; but of course—(Fails to find any, rings bell, and then, walks to the window carrying the Times. Enter servant.) [Exit Paterfamilias, moodily.]

A NEW SCHEME FOR SUBMARINE TELEGRAPHS. A paper recently read by Mr. Kaulbach before the Inventors' Institute in London described a new plan of laying deep-sea telegraphic cables. The invention consists in the formation of a permanent way or bridge beneath the surface of the ocean—and which may be extended to any distance—for the support and carrying through of the wires, lines, cables, or other contrivances of a like sort, by means of which the electric current is to be transmitted from shore to shore; the said permanent way being formed of a series of vessels of particular construction, stationed at distances to be determined according to circumstances—throughout the whole of the intended line of communication, sunk to an average depth of ten to fifteen fathoms, and firmly moored to the bed of the sea; these vessels being so contrived that they can, within a few minutes be brought to the surface, together with their respective burdens, whensoever it may be required, for the purpose of shifting, cleansing, repairing, examining, or otherwise manipulating the said vessels, or the wires, lines, cables, &c., and this without any effort or machinery. It is claimed that no loss of cable can take place, and flaws or accidents can at once be detected and the cable recovered at any point. The position of each vessel will be indicated by a small buoy attached thereto, and the former being stationed at equal distances apart, the continuous line of buoys will denote the track of the submarine permanent-way or bridge from shore to shore. The supporting vessels are entirely independent of the surface, and below the region of storms. Furthermore, by means of a simple appliance, messages may be sent from mid ocean through any one of the buoys along any or all of the said wires, lines, cables, &c., by any ship or ships lawfully privileged to use the same, and wishing to communicate with either of the continents or islands wherewith the said permanent-way may be connected, or with each other. The actual cost of permanent-way telegraphic communication between Cape Race and Cape Clear has been estimated at about $400,000.

SINGULAR RECOVERY FROM CHOLERA.—The following singular fact is related by the Memorial d'Amiens, in speaking of the cholera: "During the summer of 1848, towards the end of June, the epidemic reached Brussels, when it attacked, one Sunday in the forenoon, General Chazal, Minister of War, who gradually sank, and by eleven on that night was in an almost hopeless state, notwithstanding the attendance of four medical men, including Dr. Seutin, the first surgeon of Brussels, and Dr. Variet, a celebrated homœopathic practitioner. At eight the following morning all was considered over, the face having assumed a blue tinge, and the pulse having ceased, so that the general's death was communicated to the royal family and announced in the public journals, whence it was copied throughout Europe. Meanwhile, an incidental reference by General Tomini, before the attendants in the sick chamber of a remedy had recourse to in Russia, where sacks filled with hot ashes were placed on the body of the patient, induced the general's aides-de-camp to try the plan, and after six hours of incessant perseverance the remedy proved efficacious, the body, resuming its natural hue and animation being restored. The general subsequently recovered, and is still Minister of War in Belgium."

GYPSIES. The Taunton Gazette says that a tribe of gypsies who have pitched their tents in various places in that vicinity for some weeks, have departed, in the direction of this city. The present influx of several bands of gypsies from England to this country is said to be the first of the wandering and mysterious race that have ever crossed the Atlantic. The tribe which have visited Taunton, appear to be the undoubted Zingari as far as features and manners are concerned, and judging from the sleek condition of their beasts and general appearance of comfort they have found the harvest of fools in New England plentiful enough for support. The dark eyed fortune tellers certainly "read" a good many palms in Taunton, and took away a corresponding number of dollars.—[New Bedford Standard.

CONSTITUTION LIFE SYRUP.

A positive and specific remedy for all disease originating from an IMPURE STATE OF THE BLOOD, and for all (hereditary) DISEASES transmitted from PARENT TO CHILD.

L

SCROFULA,
STRUMA, GLANDULAR SWELLINGS
ULCERATION, KING'S EVIL,
ERYSIPHLAS, SALT RHEUM

This taint (HEREDITARY and ACQUIRED,) filling life with untold misery, is by all usual medical remedies incurable.

RHEUMATISM.

If there is any disease in which the Constitution Life Syrup is a sovereign, it is in rheumatism and its kindred affections. The most intense pains are almost instantly alleviated—enormous swellings are reduced. Cases, chronic or vicarious, of twenty or thirty years standing have been cured.

I

NERVOUSNESS.

Nervous Debility, Shattered Nerves,
St. Vitus' Dance, Loss of Power,
Confusion of Thoughts, Epilepsy.

Thousands who have suffered for years will bless the day on which they read these lines. Particularly to weak, suffering women will this medicine prove an inestimable blessing—directing their footsteps to a Hope which fulfills more than in promise.

MERCURIAL DISEASES.

Salivation, Rotting of Bones,
Bad Complexion, Aches in Bones,
Fooling of Weakness, Depression of Spirits.

F

CONSTITUTION LIFE SYRUP purges the system entirely from all the evil effects of MERCURY, removing the Bad Breath, curing the Weak Joints and Rheumatic Pains which the use of Calomel is sure to produce. It hardens Spongy Gums and secures the Teeth as firmly as ever.

CONSTITUTION LIFE SYRUP

Eradicates, root and branch, all Eruptive Diseases, of the Skin like

ULCERS, PIMPLES, BLOTCHES,

and all other difficulties of this kind, which so much disfigure the outward appearance of both males and females, often making them a disgusting object to themselves and their friends.

E

CONSTITUTION LIFE SYRUP

CURES ALL SWELLING OF THE GLANDS.

Either of the Face, Neck, or Female Breast, and should be taken as soon as the swelling is detected, thus preventing their breaking, and producing troublesome Discharging Sores, which disfigure so many of the younger portion of the community, from six to twenty years of age. Young children are very subject to Discharges from the Ears, which depends upon a Scrofulous constitution. These cases soon recover by taking a few doses of the Life Syrup.

S

All scrofulous persons suffering from general Debility, Emaciation, Dyspepsia and Dropsey of the limbs, abdomen, and in the female, Dropsey of the ovaries and womb, generally accompanied with inflammation and Ulceration of the Uterus, are permanently cured by Constitution Life Syrup. The disease known as Goitre or Swelled Neck, the Life Syrup will remove entirely. The remedy should be taken for some time, as the disease is exceedingly chronic and stubborn, and will not be removed without extra effort.

Tumors of the Ovaries, Tumors of the Breast, and swelling of other glands of the body, will be completely reduced without resorting to the knife, or operations of any kind.

Y

Epileptic Fits, Sympathetic or Organic Disease of the Heart, as palpitation, Disease of the Valves, producing a grating or filing sound, Dropsey of the Heart Case and all the affections of this important organ (persons suffering from any acute pain in the region of the heart), will be greatly relieved by Constitution Life Syrup.

BROKEN DOWN AND DELICATE CONSTITUTIONS SUFFERING FROM INDISPOSITION TO EXERTION, PAIN IN THE BACK, LOSS OF MEMORY, FOREBODINGS, HORROR OF CALAMITY, FEAR OF DISEASE, DIMNESS OF VISION, DRY, HOT SKIN AND EXTREMITIES, WANT OF SLEEP, RESTLESSNESS, PALE, HAGGARD COUNTENANCE, AND LASSITUDE OF THE MUSCULAR SYSTEM, all require the aid of the CONSTITUTION LIFE SYRUP.

R

FOR ALL FORMS OF

Ulcerative Diseases,

Either of the NOSE, THROAT, TONGUE, SPINE, FOREHEAD or SCALP, no remedy has ever proved its equal.

MOTH PATCHES upon the female face depending upon the diseased action of the liver, are very unpleasant to the young wife and mother. A few bottles of CONSTITUTION LIFE SYRUP, will correct the secretion, and remove the deposit which is directly under the skin.

In the diseases of the Liver, giving rise to Languor, Dizziness, Indigestion, Weak Stomach, or an ulcerated or cancerous condition of that organ, accompanied with burning or other unpleasant symptoms, will be relieved by the use of CONSTITUTION LIFE SYRUP.

U

AS A GENERAL BLOOD PURIFYING AGENT THE LIFE SYRUP STANDS UNRIVALLED BY ANY PREPARATION IN THE WORLD.

THE RICH AND POOR

are liable to the same diseases. Nature and Science has made the CONSTITUTION LIFE SYRUP for the benefit of all.

PURE BLOOD

Produces healthy men and women; and if the constitution is neglected in youth, disease and early death is the result.

Price $1 25 per bottle; one half dozen for $7.

DR. LAROOKAH'S

Sarsaparilla Compound,

For the Speedy and Permanent Cure of Liver Complaints, Scrofula or Kings Evil, Eruptions, and all Eruptive Diseases of the Skin, St. Anthony's Fire, Salt Rheum, Pimples, Pustules, Blotches and Boils, Rheumatic and Neuralgic Pains in the Bones, Side and Head: For the various Weaknesses to which Females are liable; Dyspepsia, Debility, Emaciation, Dropsy, and all diseases resulting from or in an impure state of the Blood.

IT is invaluable to Nervous Sufferers, and a positive cure for Palsy arising from the abuse of Mercury or Lead.

It is a tonic as well as an Alterative and a sure protection from attacks that originate in change of climate, season or life.

LIVER COMPLAINTS and their combined symptoms, such as Lumbago, Jaundice, Rheumatism, Bilious Eruptions, &c. When caused by Scrofula taint, this compound is a most effectual remedy.

DYSPEPSIA or INDIGESTION, is often caused by Scrofula, which deranges the stomach, and renders it unhealthy. Indigestion is not always caused by Scrofula, when it is this Sarsaparilla Compound is a ready cure.

NEURALGIA, HEADACHE and various disorders of the nervous system frequently arise from a low state of the constitutional health, and are much relieved and often cured by this powerful remedy.

ERYSIPELAS, Boils, Tumors, or Salt Rheum, Ulcers, Sores, &c. Moderate doses three times a day will speedily effect the cure of the above complaints, but effect requires considerable time.

Price one dollar per bottle. Six bottles, for five dollars.

Price 50 Cents and $1,00 per Bottle.

DR. KNIGHTS'

Oriental Hair Restorer.

After a long series of experiments, this article, as it is now offered to the public, is believed to be the most perfect of its kind which science has ever devised. No pains have been spared to produce what has so long been demanded by thousands, who, from sickness or other causes, have become prematurely grey; and others, who, in the severe and yellow leaf of life, would retain, as far as possible, the semblance of youth. Dr. KNIGHTS' ORIENTAL HAIR RESTORER, after a few applications, restores grey or faded hair to its original color, and is the only preparation of the kind upon which the public can place any reliance. It has never been known, in a single instance, and is totally unlike the thousand and one so-called Hair Restorers, by which so many have been egregiously deceived.

It is delightfully perfumed, gives the hair a rich and glossy appearance, promotes its luxuriant growth, and will not soil the skin, scalp, or any article of apparel.

PRICE 75 CENTS PER BOTTLE.
